CROWNING OF POPE

The Tiara is Placed Upon the Head of Pius X.

GORGEOUS CEREMONY

Seventy Thousand People in Attendance, Burst Into Unrestrained Acclamation of Joy and Reverence For the New Pontiff.

Rome, Aug. 10.—The ceremony of the coronation of Pope Pius X. took place Sunday in the basilica of St. Peter's in the presence of princes and high dignitaries of the church and the Roman nobles, and with all the solemnity and splendor associated with the most magnificent rite of the Roman Catholic church.

As Cardinal Macchi, the dean of the cardinal deacons, placed the triple crown on the head of the venerable pontiff the throng of 70,000 persons, gathered within the cathedral, burst into unrestrained acclamation, the choir intoned a hymn of triumph and the bells rang out a joyful peal.

It is fifty-seven years since the Romans and Europe assisted at such a function as was held at St. Peter's Sunday. The great basilica, popularly supposed to have never been quite full, was overflowing with humanity. The papal throne, a bewildering mixture of gold, red and silver, was erected in front of the high altar. As, contrary to custom, on these ceremonious occasions, there were no galleries, the basilica bore more of its normal aspect. On the altar, which was dressed in white, stood the famous silver gilt candlesticks and a magnificent crucifix. All the available standing space within the cathedral was divided into sections by wooden barriers, which, to a certain extent, kept the vast crowd in order. In the early hours after sunrise a thick fog hung over Rome, and one bank of the Tiber could not be seen from the other, while from the San Angelo bridge one seemed to look into the fathomless abyss instead of into the river. The effect was especially magnificent on entering the piazza of St. Peter's. At times Michael Angelo's great dome disappeared completely from view, while at others it appeared through the flowing golden mist. As the morning wore on, the fog dispersed and the sun shone with all its southern intensity, until it became unbearably hot, and the stones, columns and statues seemed to radiate the heat on the thousands waiting to enter the church. At 6 o'clock the ringing of bells announced the imminent opening of the doors, and a commotion at once began among the crowd. The police and Italian soldiers had a difficult task to maintain order, as the crushing and fatigue had begun to tell on the patience.

When the doors were opened the inrush was terrific, many people who started from the steps outside were lifted off their feet and carried into the Cathedral. It was a great human torrent let loose, thousands of people rushing and squeezing amid screams, protests, gesticulations and cries of help. But once in the whirlpool there was no escape and the compactness of the crowd proved to be the safety of those caught in it. Women fainted in comparatively large numbers and even men were overcome by the heat. Those who received special invitations from ecclesiastics who were not participating in the proceedings, the diplomats and the Roman aristocracy had served entrance through the sacristy of St. Peter's.

Inside the vatican palace there was no less movement and bustle as the papal procession composed of about 500 persons, all of whom had gathered early in the apostolic palace. The pope seemed to be the only tranquil one among them all. He evinced no nervousness and even said jokingly to the master of ceremonies, who the other day suggested that he should use the plural form in speaking of himself, "We feel very well this morning, but we may be different on returning from our coronation."

Just before entering the sedia gestatoria he asked for his spectacles and when the master of ceremonies discreetly hinted that his holiness would look better without them, he said: "I have no desire to appear what I am not," and he in fact wore them during the entire ceremony.

Over the pontiff's head a canopy was held by eight men, while the historic ostrich feather fans with peacock tips, gave a touch of barbarish splendor to western eyes. Surrounding Pope Pius were the noble guard in new red uniforms and gleaming helmets, and carrying drawn swords, while in front marched the cardinals, a gorgeous bit of color, with many handsome faces among them.

Before leaving the Vatican the pope went to the Sistine chapel to worship before the sacrament exposed therein. The pontiff was exceedingly pale, but composed. The low ceiling sent back an exquisite echo of the "Tues Petrus," sung by the Sistine choir, whose voices were heard outside the piazza of St. Peter's. Cardinal Rampolla advanced with dignified knelt and kissed the foot of the pontiff. He then presented in a firm voice the wishes and greetings of the chapter of St. Peter's, in which he said:

"I offer an act of obedience to your holiness, and wish you a prosperous and glorious pontificate."

The pontiff was visibly touched, and, answering in a trembling voice, warmly thanked the chapter for their well wishes.

"Good wishes," he said, "are extremely precious." The procession then reformed and proceeded to the door of the basilica, through which Pius cast an almost terror stricken glance, whispering to Dr. Lappoin, "Shall I ever be able to go through with it?"

A quaint ceremony was then carried out. The master of the ceremonies knelt three times before the pontiff, each time lighting a handful of hemp which surmounted a silver torch, and as the flame flashed and then died out, he chanted, "Holy father, thus passeth away the glory of the world."

The procession then proceeded. The pope's face was illumined by a smile. Two lions of cardinals clad in silver and scarlet reached to the high altar with its burden of burning candles and sacred vessels, while around stood the papal guards, the pontifical court, monks and officials. From the throne, Pius X., surrounded by his suite, walked to the high altar standing over the crypt of St. Peter into which meanwhile Cardinal Macchi descended to pray. The pope then blessed the altar, and after saying the "Indulgentiam," the maniple, a symbol of the cord, was placed with great ceremony upon the pope's arm.

Returning from the crypt, Cardinal Macchi placed upon the shoulders of the pope the pontifical pallium and attached it with three golden jeweled pins, saying, "Receive the sacred pallium as a symbol of the fullness of the pontifical office, in honor of Almighty God, the most glorious Virgin Mary, his mother, the blessed apostles St. Peter and St. Paul and the holy Roman Catholic church."

Following this Cardinal Macchi performed the rite of incensing the pope.

On the pope's return to the throne the cardinals offered their last obedience to the pontiff, kissing his hands and feet, and receiving an embrace by him twice in turn. The whole sacred college gathered about the pope, singing Balestrina's "Corona Aurea Super Caput Ejus." Cardinal Macchi then recited the Pater Noster and offered the following prayer: "Omnipotent and ever eternal God, dignity of the clergy and author of sovereignty, grant Thy servant, Pius X., grace to fruitfully govern Thy church so that he, by Thy clemency becomes and is crowned as father of kings and rector of all the faithful, through Thy wise disposition may govern well."

Cardinal Macchi then addressed the pope in Latin, as follows:

"Receive the tiara, ornamented with three crowns. Remember, thou art the father of princes and kings, the rector of the world, the vicar on earth of our Savior, Jesus Christ, who is the honor and glory of all centuries."

ATTEMPT TO ASSASSINATE.

An Anarchist Fires Two Shots at the French Premier.

Marseilles, Aug. 10.—As Premier Combes was returning Sunday afternoon to the prefecture from a banquet given by the Friendly Society of Teachers, at which M. Pelletan, minister of marine, and Henry Brisson, deputy for Marseilles, and a number of senators and deputies were present, two pistol shots were fired at the carriage in which he was riding. The premier was untouched, and none of them accompanying him was hurt. The attempt upon the life of the president of the ministry caused great excitement, and the crowd pointed out to the police the author of the attempt, a man dressed in fisherman's clothes. His companion drew a knife, but he police quickly disarmed him. The police had much difficulty in protecting the man who had fired the shots from the crowd. The first interrogation of the prisoner took place in the presence of the premier. The man said his name was Sanvaire Picolo. He spoke very bad French, with a strong Italian accent. He denied that he fired the shots, but when searched a revolver was found with two chambers which had been recently fired. It is believed that Picolo and his companion, who effected his escape during the confusion, are anarchists. The police are aware of the presence of a number of other anarchists.

FATALITY AT BALL GAME.

Nine Are Fatally Hurt and Over One Hundred Injured.

Philadelphia, Aug. 10.—Four persons were killed, twelve probably fatally injured, and 150 others were hurt, some seriously, at the Philadelphia National League baseball park Saturday evening. Nearly one hundred persons received fractured limbs, lacerations of the head, broken noses, contusions of the head and body, but their condition is not serious.

At the top of the left field seats and extending from the grand stand to the end of the bleachers there was a walk about three feet wide, which overhung the street. It was this walk that gave way under the heavy weight.

Philadelphia, Aug. 10.—Five additional deaths have occurred as the result of the accident Saturday at the Philadelphia National League baseball park, making a total of nine fatalities. Two hundred victims were treated at the various hospitals and it is believed that fully 100 more received attention at various drug stores, in the vicinity of the baseball grounds. Of the injured still in the hospitals five are said to be in a critical condition. The list of dead are: Louis McGrath, 28 years old; Alfred Rodgers, 60; William J.

BRYAN TEXAS, AUG. 11, 1903.

The state school apportionment for the session of 1903-04 will be $5. This enormous state school fund has been growing for the past several years, and those charged with the administration of its affairs deserve the praise and thanks of all Texans. Texas has long been the foremost state in the union in looking after her educational institutions.—Navasota Examiner.

The big reunion of Camp John G. Walker has been postponed for two weeks, and will therefore be held on August 25, 26, and 27. There are two reasons for putting off the reunion. One is that the rains have interfered and preparations cannot be made as desired, and the other is that the railroad officials have promised to make a supreme effort to have the road completed by that time, and will run excursion trains into Madisonville.—Meteor.

Terminal for Navasota Branch.

Bryan folks are rightfully elated over the I. & G. N. railway people re-establishing a freight division in their town. At the same time the same company has a terminal here for the Madisonville branch, and Navasota is in consequence not a whit behind. Alright Bud; while Navasota made no effort to get it she would have been glad to have gotten it. At the same time we are not niggardly.—Navasota Examiner.

MR. T. L. GRACE DEAD.

After Months of Patient Suffering, the End Came.

Mr. T. L. Grace died at his home in this city shortly before noon Sunday, after months of great but patient suffering from cancer, during which time every effort was made to cure or check the malignant disease, but to no avail. He spent some months in Dallas and in Houston under special treatment, and had the constant and watchful care of his faithful wife and other members of the family, who hoped against hope to the sad end, which, if it brought death, brought also relief to the the pain racked form.

Mr. Grace was a resident of Bryan many years and was engaged in the market and cattle business. He was of genial, kindly disposition, industrious always, and energetic even after the dread disease of which he died had laid its blight upon him. He was faithful as a friend and kind and indulgent as a husband and father. He leaves a wife and several children who have the sympathy of all in their sorrow.

Mr. Grace was a Catholic and a member of the Knights of the Macabees and the Ancient Order of United Workmen. He served the county as commissioner and the city as alderman several years ago. The funeral service was held at St. Joseph's Catholic church at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Interment followed at the city cemetery under the auspices of the fraternal orders of which he was a member.

THE BLACK LEG.

Disease Prevailing Among Cattle About Rock Prairie.

Editor Eagle:—I wish to call the attention of the people generally to the fact that the terrible incurable disease, black leg, is prevalent among the cattle in some sections. In the Green's Prairie and Rock Prairie communities several cattle have died already with this disease. I lost a cow with it myself, and did what I think all people ought to do in such cases. I burned the carcass.

I want to insist on everybody burning up cattle that die with this disease. That is the only way to stop it from spreading.

Notes by the Way.

About two years ago Wiley Kelly and nephew, W. A. Robinson formed a partnership and are now successfully engaged in hog raising. They have 100 acres under modern hog fence, besides a large crop of diversified feedstuff. They have thoroughbred hogs and are going to do everything possible to show what is in hog raising in Brazos county. They will have a nice crop of hogs for market this fall. The boll weevils are not knocking the squares off very badly from the hog crop.

While out in behalf of the Eagle last Thursday I ran upon one of the good old time farmers; he made me feel good especially my appetite.

This man has a small farm but he told me he owed no man. Had plenty of old corn, he showed me a nice patch of hogs of about 25, saying he has never bought any meat but always sells meat and lard. He also has ten acres of goobers, peas, potatoes, and other hog feed. And, by the way, this is no one but our old neighbor B. A. Huggins. He does not go to town and talk hard times and boll weevils.

KATY FLYER WRECK

Two Katy Passenger Trains Come Together Near Dallas.

A TERRIFIC CRASH.

Four Persons Are Injured, and Many Badly Shaken Up--Thrilling Rescue of Engineer--Commissioner
Mayfield a Passenger.

Dallas, Aug. 11.—Two Katy passenger trains collided, head on at a sharp curve on the high embankment which leads to the bridge across the Trinity river, about two miles south this city, Sunday night.

Four persons were injured—two of them seriously—passengers in both trains were thrown to the floor or hurled over seats, the engines were considerably damaged and in nearly every car heavy panes of plate glass were shattered to atoms.

The injured:
George Gumpert, engineer on No. 34, northbound; both legs broken.

James Alders, engineer on No. 5, southbound; collar bone fractured.

Ike Smith, colored porter on No. 34; leg broken, severe cut on head and believed to have sustained internal injuries.

Harry Thompson, colored, of Corsicana, passenger on No. 5; head cut.

The trains seem to have been moving at a pretty rapid rate. Railroad Commissioner Allison Mayfield, who, with his wife, occupied the rear seat of the last sleeper on No. 5, which was the southbound flyer, estimates the speed of that train, which was just beginning to get under good headway after leaving Dallas, at not less than twenty-five and possibly thirty miles per hour. "All of us passengers were badly shaken up," he said, "but no one was hurt on our train."

When the trains stopped, the northbound engine was on the trestle of the bridge, the front trucks resting on the embankment. It was firmly welded into the one which pulled the flyer, and the front work of both, including the cabs, was torn and twisted.

The rescue of Engineer Gumpert was thrilling. Pinned down in his cab, with the woodwork around him blazing fiercely, it required the service of a score of men with axes and fully two score more, who formed a bucket brigade, to drag him from his perilous position. As it was impossible to lower him to the ground from the trestle, he was placed on top of the baggage car, and there he was forced to lay for about four hours.

It was stated by the trainmen that the Katy flyer left Dallas on time, with instructions to stop at the siding at Honey Springs, which is just beyond the river, and await there the arrival of No. 34. No. 5 was due at Honey Springs at 8:35, and the collision occurred at 8:25 according to the watches of the trainmen. Statements are made to the effect that emergency brakes were applied on both trains just a moment before the disaster.

It would be difficult to find a worse place for a wreck. The embankment is between forty and fifty feet high. The road curves just before crossing the river and rises with each foot. The short trestle work which connects the embankment and the bridge is many feet above the ground, which, in many places, is covered with heavy stone for ballast. The flyer was returned to this city and went over the Texas and Pacific tracks to Fort Worth to proceed south.

The Raindrop.

The falling of a drop of rain is a commonplace, everyday matter, but a flash of lightning—ah, that is something out of the ordinary, something to wonder at, so most men think. The humble physicist plodding on the trail of these manifestations of physical energy thinks otherwise. To him the drop of water falling gently is much more of a mystery than the sudden rupture of the air gap and the headlong rush of electrical energy in a disruptive discharge.

Although rain has fallen since the dawn of creation, man knows very little about the origin, the structure of the raindrop. The reason for this is that the simple looking drop of rain is in reality a marvelous microcosm. Some day when the mechanism of a drop of rain shall be made plain it will be found that the universe itself is not more wonderfully held together.

The size of the drop is not the obstacle in the way of a clearer knowledge of the drop structure, for the average diameter of raindrops is not far from one millimeter, and men of science have to deal with quantities infinitely smaller.—Sunset Magazine.

A Giant of the Deep.

The American Museum of Natural History in New York has what is believed to be the largest whale ever exhibited on land. It is a female finback sixty-eight and a half feet in length. Its body in life was thirty feet in circumference. It is estimated that at least fifty men could be inclosed within the interior of this gigantic animal. The full grown right whale, which is the species usually hunted for its blubber and whalebone, averages from forty-five to fifty feet only in length. The whale whose skeleton is to adorn the museum was washed ashore dead near Forked river, New Jersey, last November. Scientific theory avers that the ancestors of the whales were terrestrial or land mammals which gradually became aquatic in their way of living.

Painting the Capitol

No piece of exterior painting during the past decade has attracted more favorable attention than which is soon to be completed on the National Capitol. Some fifteen hundred gallons of paint will be applied by a force of eighteen men working about two months. The job is fraught with dangers and difficulties owing to the very irregular contour of the architecture. The paint used is of the ready mixed order, and was specially prepared by Messrs. HARRISON BROS. & Co., Inc. It is said that the firm was aided in securing this valuable contract by the fine reputation enjoyed by their "TOWN & COUNTRY" brand of ready mixed paints. That the Capitol looks much better than it has in many years is a matter of much comment in Washington. It is said that one of the best known architects in the country was so impressed by the improved appearance of the Capitol that he sent congratulations to the Messrs. Harrison on the excellent quality of the paint.—From the Paint, Oil and Drug Reporter, July, 1903.

RUSSIA IS INCENSED

Demands Exemplary Punishment of Turkish Responsible Officials.

MURDER OF CONSUL.

M. Rostkovski is the Second Russian Consul Killed in Macedonia Within a Few Months. Turks Claim He Was the Aggressor.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 10.—The czar has demanded exemplary punishment not of the murderers of the Russian consul at Monastir, who was killed last week by the Turkish gendarmes, but of all military and civil officers in any way responsible for the crime. The assassination of the Russian consul at Monastir, M. Rostkovski, the second murder of a Russian consular official in Macedonia within a few months, has created intense indignation here. In reporting the occurrence to the foreign office the Russian ambassador at Constantinople telegraphed, Aug. 8: "Russian consul at Monastir has fallen a victim to an atrocious crime. The grand vizier and Turkish foreign minister have come to me with expressions of regret in the name of the sultan. Perid Pasha, grand vizier, has been informed that the assassin is a gendarme named Halim, and he will be subjected to the severest punishment, and Vali Monastir will be removed from the post."

In reply, Count Lambsdorff, foreign minister, telegraphed to the ambassador, Aug. 9: "His majesty received a telegram from the sultan expressing his deep regret at the death of the Russian consul at Monastir. When I submitted your telegram to the emperor his majesty gave orders that you should not confine yourself to receiving explanations from the grand vizier, but should make most energetic demands on the Turkish government for full satisfaction and immediate and exemplary punishment of both the murderer and all military and civil officials on whom responsibility for the atrocious crime may fall."

According to a report made by an official in charge of the Russian consulate at Monastir, the murderer is a gendarme. The consul asked his name because, in defiance of instructions, the gendarme did not salute him. The gendarme thereupon fired several shots, mortally wounding the consul in the head and hip.

Nervous at Constantinople.

Constantinople, Aug. 10.—The murder of Russian Consul Rostkovski has caused intense excitement here and is the sole topic of conversation on the streets, and in cafes and public resorts. The general belief is that the incident is bound to considerably aggravate the already serious situation in Macedonia, and it is felt that it will undoubtedly encourage Bulgarians to support the insurrectionary movement, which is spreading rapidly.

Rostkovski's Arrogance.

Belgrade, Aug. 10.—According to the latest reports regarding the murder of the Russian consul at Monastir, M. Rostkovski abused the Turkish gendarme, who was doing sentry duty, for not saluting him, calling him "pig of Turk." Then he struck the sentry with his whip, saying: "Next time, perhaps, you will know me." The gendarme thereupon fired on the consul. It is stated that M. Rostkovski is hated by the Turks on account of his intense arrogance.

Insurgents Dynamite Custom House.
Vienna, Aug. 10.—According to a dispatch from Salonica, the insurgents have blown up, with dynamite, the customs house at Zeibehive, on the frontier. There were no fatalities.

Italian Anarchists Verified at Rome.
Rome, Aug. 10.—The names of the men who attempted to assassinate M. Combes, French premier at Marseilles, seemed to be Italian, the authorities here looked up their list of Italian anarchists and verified them. Many messages of congratulation thereupon were sent M. Combes.

A Ladies' Valuable Bustle.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 10.—Word has been received by the union depot officials that the missing bustle in which $7300 had been sewed by Mrs. Lucy Vance of Shawnee, Kan., and which she supposed she had dropped from the Rock Island train while en route to St. Paul, has been found. She, in a hurry, leaving her old home, had forgotten the valuable article and returned home just in time to save it from being burned as rubbish by the new tenants of her house.

Ohio Criminals Escape.

Columbus, O., Aug. 10.—Lewis Harmon, convicted of the murder of George Geyer near Alton; Robert Shifflett of Franklin county, charged with horse stealing; Otis Kellar, another alleged horse thief, and Lewis Eyteling, a forger of Dayton, escaped from the county jail in broad daylight by filing off a bar in the bath room. The work is supposed to have been done with a potato knife, filed in the shape of a saw. Harmon is an accomplice of Miles Wal-lingford, who recently committed suicide in the Denison, Texas, jail.

DAKOTA'S DIVORCE LAW.

It Is Brought Into Question in a Suit in England.

London, Aug. 10.—Sir Francis Jeune, president of the divorce court, has granted D. S. Constandinidi a divorce from his wife, a daughter of Stephen Rallao, member of the firm of Rallao Brothers, on the ground that Mrs. Constandinidi's conduct led to the misconduct of her husband. Constandinidi's divorce suit raised the question of the legality of Dakota divorces in England. The husband charged his wife with bigamously marrying Dr. Jance, the family physician.

Topeka, Kan., has had another heavy rain, causing the streams to swell and frightening people from their homes in North Topeka.

AUSTIN CULLINGS.

The Proposed Pasteur Institute—Manual Training Schools.

Austin, Aug. 10.—The last legislature appropriated $5000 for the founding of a Pasteur institute for the state of Texas in connection with the state insane asylum at this place. It will be the only place in the South of its kind. Heretofore those bitten by animals with the rabies have been compelled to go East for treatment. Hereafter they will be treated in this city under the staff of physicians at the insane asylum, Dr. Worsham being the chief.

Austin, Aug. 10.—The controller has drawn two warrants in favor of independent school districts which will introduce manual training under the terms of the act of the last legislature, which made an appropriation for such purposes. It provided that the state shall give an equal amount, raised by the school district, which shall be not less than $100 nor more than $500. Both warrants were for the maximum amount, $500 each, and were in favor of the independent school districts of Itasca, Hill county, and Belton, Bell county.

Austin, Aug. 10.—This is the last month of the fiscal and appropriation years, as both will expire on Aug. 31. As is to be expected, all of the appropriations are at low ebb; in fact, several exhausted, but there will be but few, if any, deficiencies, and they will be extremely small should there be any.

Board of Directors Fill Some Important Vacancies.

College Station, Tex., Aug. 13.—At a recent meeting the board of directors of the Agricultural and Mechanical college made a number of important selections to fill vacancies created by resignations or transfers in the departments of the college.

Prof. Brown received four years' training in physics and electrical engineering in the Ohio State university, and during his senior year he held the position of student assistant in physics.

For the vacant instructorship in modern languages the board selected Prof. Charles B. Campbell. Prof. Campbell is a graduate of Depeau university and has had successful experience in teaching and as principal of a large high school. Mr. Campbell comes very highly recommended. He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa association, membership in which is based upon high character and sound scholarship.

For the position of librarian, Prof. Davis K. Doyle of Stephenville, Tex., was unanimously elected. Prof. Doyle is a young man of excellent character and intelligence and has had extended and successful experience as a teacher. He will spend the next two months in special preparation for his duties under the supervision of a trained librarian.

Plans have been accepted and contracts let for three professors' cottages, to be completed by the beginning of the college year.

GOVERNOR OF GEORGIA SPEAKS

Gov. Terrell Indorses the Roosevelt Letter to Durban on Lynching.

Atlanta, Aug. 10.—Governor Terrell has endorsed the contents of President Roosevelt's letter to Governor Durbin of Indiana in regard to the recent action of Governor Durbin to prevent lynchings in that state. Coincidentally with the endorsement, Governor Terrell stated that speedy trials should be granted all offenders and punishment should not be delayed by technicalities. Governor Terrell gave the following signed statement to the Associated Press: "I think President Roosevelt is on the right line and I am in hearty accord with the views he expresses. The majesty of the law should be upheld, but at the same time there should be prompt and speedy trial of offenders in case that the crime which most frequently excites the anger of mobs and leads to lynchings, and punishment should not be delayed by technicalities. "We have so amended our criminal laws in Georgia as to have speedy trials by authorizing our judges to order a special term of court to try criminals. No law, however strictly enforced, absolutely stops lynchings for rape, but speedy trials tend to lessen the number and practically serve as a preventive to lynchings for other offenses. It is interesting to note the numerous lynchings in the North and Northwest of late which have brought forth such expressions from the president, while the number of them in the South have been so few within the same period as to attract little or no attention."

A METEOR FALLS.

Strikes the Ground With Terrific Force and Slices a Woman.
Chicasha, I. T., Aug. 10.—During a heavy thunderstorm here Saturday night a meteor fell in the north part of the city with a blaze of light and a shower of sparks which lit up the entire city and the country for miles around.
